Become Santa Claus and explore about the cozy living area of a family's home on the eve of Christmas. Look for clues and hints as to what each family member most enjoys and take your time choosing just the right gift for each - and while you're at it, have yourself a merry little bit of playtime and personally test each of the available gifts! Fly a Quad-Copter Drone or an RC Zeppelin, zip around with an RC Sports Car, read a heart-warming Christmas classic on an eReader Tablet, pop on some Holiday tunes with the portable Smart Speaker, and lots more! Or maybe just sit back and watch a vintage Christmas movie or two while Santa takes a much deserved milk & cookies break! Warm up in this cozy little Christmas wonderland any time of the year! Playable in morning, day, and night time conditions. About The Game - FAQs: Q. Who's this game for? A. Any player who wishes to play the story of having to be Santa and finding the special gift that each family member has this holiday season! Q. Is this game compatible with all mobile devices? A. If you are bored of overused, cliché and ordinary twin-stick shooters with generic art, then don't miss this opportunity to play something unique and fresh. A game where all the components work together perfectly. You play as a little kid - a lost soul who is trapped inside a large tower, with only an elevator as a way of escape. After you hear about something bad that happened to you, your inner demons start attacking you. You need to figure out for how to escape from this tower, face your inner demons and free your mind once again! Game Description: This is a top-down twin-stick shooter with adventure game elements. You play as a lost soul, trapped inside a large tower. Your inner demons start attacking you, and you need to escape and face your fears in order to find yourself again. Each level is a large and intricately designed environment where you need to find the correct tools, weapons and magic to defeat the puzzles that will be thrown at you. Your magic is used to direct air vents, while tools can be used to construct walls and bridges. You will also have to use your head, as the correct placement of the air vents will create certain endings for you. Each of the levels has a number of "Pillars", which can be upgraded to increase the difficulty. The goal is to reach the higher pillars as fast as you can, but not all of them have to be done at once. Several lives are on offer. Each level has multiple checkpoints, as well as an extra one at the end of each tower. This way you can always restart a level if it gets too hard or if you just made a mistake. The enemies are on a number of levels. Your main goal is to avoid attacks from them and use each level's resources effectively. Key Features: -Twin-stick shooter -Top-down perspective -Create your own adventure by playing the game yourself -Adventure game elements - each game ends with a final "Pillar" that determines how far into the game you advance. -3 different worlds with over 50 different enemies -5 boss fights -Collectable pets -Upgradeable skills -Let the game be you adventure! -Collectibles to unlock more stuff! -Refresh rate 60FPS -Optional music from Indie Game Music creators -16 difficulty levels -Endless mode -Free Add-c9d1549cdd

Legionwood - Ever since the conquest of the world by a mysterious force of death - the Niflheim - in the first Heroes of Legionwood game, time has stood still in this place. But in "Heroes of Legionwood - Part 3: End of Days," Legionwood finally begins to see new action. What is the true nature of the Niflheim, and who are the mysterious individuals called Champions who have mysteriously formed a resistance? Are they really for good? And what about the Heroes of Legionwood's relationship to the world, and their fate? Developed by: Apeiron Games Publisher: Apeiron Games Format: Blu-Ray and standard DVD Genre: Action Adventure Target player: PS Vita Region: A ESRB: Rating P (Everyone 10+) Release date: February 13, 2016 Price: $59.99 or €79.99 Heroes of Legionwood - While the people of Legionwood waited for heroes, time has not stood still. In Legionwood - Heroes of Legionwood, the mystery of the new world unfolds and the people of Legionwood begin to act on their own. Through a series of episodic stories, the fate of the world will be decided. With the world on the edge of a brink of destruction, the people of Legionwood have banded together to save themselves and fight against death. Heroes from the archipelago, the winter continent and even the skyworld have joined forces to defy the fate of their world as one. And for the first time in history, the people of Legionwood take their fate into their own hands. At this point, there are no Heroes of Legionwood who did not know of the truth of their world. What awaits them when they finally become aware of their past...? Legionwood is a stand-alone saga containing many different subplots, and there is a clear story progression in the episodes, through which players can customize the story as they wish. As the story unfolds, characters appear and grow as relationships change. Throughout the series, important changes are played out. Depending on the player's choices, not only the past, but the future will be changed. This time, the fate of the world is in the players' hands. Players who have completed the original Heroes of Legionwood will be able to import their characters into the new game with no trouble

Party Kill is an action, stealth and multiplayer video game for Microsoft Windows. It was developed by Neko Entertainment and released on 11 October 2009. Gameplay In Party Kill, various enemies try to kill the main characters. They can be equipped with weapons, or alternatively, be re-equipped while a teammate is assisting a player in combat. Gameplay consists of two modes of play, where each player plays as a character against AI (computer-controlled) or another player. In Team, two or more human players (up to a max of 4) battle against a host of computer opponents, each with its own AI. In Multiplayer, one or more players can be part of a team of three human or three AI player characters against one or more other human or AI team members. Players choose their character's race (Human, Alien, or Narke) and customize their character. The customization includes choosing hairstyle, face, skin, shirt, pants, shoes, socks, chest piece, hair piece, head piece, head tattoo, tribal tattoo, head tattoo's color, face tattoo, face tattoo's color, tattoos, facial piercings, arms, wings, scars, leg pieces, feathers, boots and hair or mustache. The art style of Party Kill combines hand-drawn illustrations with 2D and 3D animation. In-game objects are created with solid gameplay abilities, including sword, fire crossbow, magnet, stasis pulse, anti-gravity boots and tarsus. Reception The game received mixed to negative reviews when it was released. Metacritic gave the game a score of 56 out of 100 for the Xbox 360 version, 49 out of 100 for the PC, and 55 out of 100 for the Mac OS X edition; aggregators GameRankings gave it scores of 46.98% for the PC version and 41.75% for the Mac version. Critics lamented the absence of online multiplayer, and the game even fell victim to a shutdown of Silver Earth Studios in 2010. The Windows version was absent from XBLA for over a year after its release, until the release of Namco Bandai's Tekken 7, which had a similar premise of three alliances in a large open world, which made Party Kill a suitable alternative to Tekken 7. Due to changes in ownership, Neko Entertainment moved to develop their next title in-house, and thus dubbed the studio the Division One. As a replacement of the lack of online multiplayer, a
