To study the results of laparoscopic appendectomy (LA) and compare with those of open appendectomy (OA). Laparoscopic appendectomy was conducted in 96 patients from September 1993 to March 1995. Ten patients were excluded because of follow-up loss. Follow-up included patient interview and chart review. During this period, OA was performed in 120 patients, and the conversion rate was 10%. The hospital stay for the LA patients was shorter than for the OA patients. The follow-up rate was significantly higher in LA patients. Laparoscopic appendectomy is superior to conventional open appendectomy in terms of speed of recovery and hospital
